

Core Values Monthly

September 2023

Collaboration

Our value of the month is collaboration.
Here's what collaboration means to us.

Evelyn Ollerenshaw
Nuestra Castra, Tipperary

Collaboration is making a calendar with photos I've taken, getting it printed and selling it for charity. I collaborate with a lot of people making my calendar.

Baerbel Schlueter
Children's Services Manager
Limerick

Collaboration with everyone is crucial to support any positive change and to truly offer child and family centred services.

James Hannon &
Danny Duffy
TEES, Limerick

We love working as part of a team to get our jobs done.

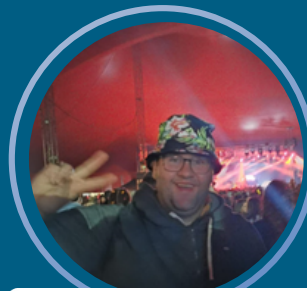

Elizabeth McCarthy
It's my life individualised supports, Dublin

Collaboration means to me that we stick together. People make time to really get to know me. They listen and learn from my past so that they can collaborate with me to plan my future.

Lila Carey
Human Rights Officer

Collaboration is a part of realising the rights of supported individuals as rights holders and decision makers in their lives.

Francis Ward
It's my life individualised supports, Dublin

Collaboration happens when the important people in my life listen to me and work together to help me achieve my dreams.

Linda Lalor
Nuestra Castra &
Teach Failte, Tipperary

Collaboration is recognising and valuing that everyone has something to offer.

In each edition of the Core Values Monthly, we will celebrate last month's value with photos, stories, poems and quotes. Here is a poem by Orla King.

In life everyone has values

By Orla King

Respect

There are six core values in the Service.

These are those alphabetically.

- 1) Collaboration
- 2) Creativity

How they plan out we'll have to wait and see.

Next comes excellence and justice.
We try to have a lot of that, but if we don't we'll just chat.

Service comes with a smile.
A smile a day is good for you
so keep smiling & be happy.
